FUTURE LEADERS OF F. O. H. S.

It is education which gives a boy or girl a clear conscious view of his own opinions and judgment, a truth in developing them, an eloquence in expressing them, and a force in urging them. It teaches them to see things as they are, to get right to the point, to disentangle a skein of thought, to detect what is right, and to discard what is irrelevant.

The purpose of a Latin Club is to define the life, loves, work, aims and accomplishments of the Latins. We sing Latin songs at Christmas, we plan meetings, parties dinners, and read Latin Plays. The scheme is to take the Class, in fancy, back to a day B.C., learn and discover how well they, too, lived and progressed.

The Pep Club is the activity in school which gives the students the opportunity to express loyalty to their school and to show the pride they feel in their school. Other schools and communities often judge our school by the actions and behavior of the Pep Club; therefore, we strive to teach good sportsmanship and courtesy, as well as enthusiasm that might, in a small way, spur the team on to victory.

SPORTS

"A boy caught stealing second base has never been caught stealing a car." These words have been proven true many times during the past with reference to the youth of our country. It places a tremendous responsibility on a school to see that every boy has a chance to participate in the sport that best suits his individual needs. Although we strive to win, winning should not be the main purpose of any athletic program. A good sports program must set up standards of scholarship, citizenship, and conduct which will carry over into adulthood. This type of program takes a great deal of money and a great deal of cooperation from a community as well as the sincere effort of the school in working with the youth of today. When this takes place, the obvious result is that it does "Pay to Play."

GRADES

During the six years in the grades success is accomplished through constant guidance and the teaching of self control, independence, pleasing traits of character, good manners, desirable health habits, an understanding of the necessity of conduct acceptable to adults, and a deep respect for those in authority. Ability is attained to think constructively, to evaluate, compare and form sane judgments. Enthusiasms are channeled, research and discussion are encouraged. The habit of working purposefully toward a goal is formed, and a willingness to participate in making a better school is achieved.
